

There's a new issue of The American Conservative going to press today, and it includes a story that will make more than a few congressmen and foreign lobbyists intensely uncomfortable: an in-depth interview between Phil Giraldi and FBI whistleblower Sibel Edmonds. She tells us exactly how Turkish intelligence have penetrated national secrets, suborned government officials, and blackmailed Congress.

TVNL Comment: And even though non-partisan sites like ours have reported this news for years, conservatives have to hear it from a conservative source before they believe it.
