

With impeachment ruled out, it's unclear how much the Judiciary Committee's inquiry can accomplish, given Bush's broad assertion of executive privilege when his subordinates are faced with congressional questions about criminal and other wrongdoing.

TVNL Comment: As I have said many times...it's all a show. Nobody will be held accountable for the plethora of crimes committed by the Cheney/Bush administration.

More...