

Authorities say a Florida pastor's daughter who was accidentally shot in the head in a church died Saturday at a hospital.

Investigators have said Moises Zambrana was showing his gun in a small closet to another church member interested in buying a firearm. The St.

Petersburg

Times reports that the other church member, Dustin

Bueller

, was Hannah Kelley's

fiancée

Zambrana reportedly removed the magazine from the Ruger 9mm weapon but did not know that a round was still in the chamber. The gun went off, firing a bullet through a wall. Kelley was struck in the head.

TVNL Comment: So much for God taking care of his worshippers. And what nice Christian values...selling a gun IN CHURCH! People are idiots and religious people are the biggest idiots. Complete loss of reality and perspective.
