

A bipartisan report released today by the House Oversight Committee finds that President Bush made a 'legally unprecedented and an inappropriate use of executive privilege" when the administration withheld Patrick Fitzgerald's interview with Vice President Cheney on the CIA leak scandal. A separate report also criticizes Bush's assertion of executive privilege regarding his recent climate change and Clean Air Act decisions:

More...

TVNL Comment:□ And the penalty for such misconduct is.....???