

Why We Can't Afford to Let Obama Give Bush's War Criminals a Free Pass

Monday, 08 February 2010 23:25 -

Late last Friday, we learned that Obama's Department of Justice plans to go easy on John Yoo and Jay Bybee -- the two assistant attorney generals under Bush who penned the infamous torture memos.

For those who have been working long and hard in the accountability movement to make sure no one -- not even presidents or their top advisors -- is above the law, this was a serious setback.

More...