

Did you actually think that this country is 'yours'? Do you understand that the Congress that supposedly represents you only works three days a week? And we won't even begin to discuss all the vacations and junkets they take when they could do it all from behind a computer. Do you know that the clients they represent are in reality the world's largest corporations and that they don't give a damn about you and never have? You and I are less than Road-Kill to these Robber-Barons, and that has been true at least since November 22, 1963. For those who might not remember that day - it was the day that JFK was murdered. When he died, the hopes and dreams of millions around the world died with him.

When I was a teen-ager back in Oklahoma, if something like ENRON had happened in Oklahoma as it did to California at the beginning of the Bushwhackers rein: There would have not been any discussion; there would have been no need for any politician to give us a rousing speech - or to tell us what needed to be done. Hundreds of thousands of us would simply have gone to the closet or the mantle-piece and picked up the rifle or the shotgun and gone down to Tex-ass and found Kenny-boy and blown his god-damned head off. That is the difference between then and now. What happened instead when it was announced that Kenny-boy, Bush's largest campaign contributor, had ruined the lives of millions of people-had wiped out their savings and destroyed their jobs along with their lives-what we saw on television were people crying with that thousand mile stare in their eyes and just shaking their heads, wondering what they could possibly do, now that they're lives had been wiped out?

Indeed nothing was done to Kenny-boy for three years and afterward he was finally imprisoned, but before he could be charged with what he did, he magically committed suicide, and was immediately cremated: So that should he be discovered in a villa on Dubai someday: he could not be charged with that crime.
