

A new drug halts the devastating progress of Alzheimer's disease, say British scientists.

It is said to be more than twice as effective as current treatments.

A daily capsule of rember, as the drug is known, stops Alzheimer's disease progressing by as much as 81 per cent, according to trial results.

More...