

Key to blood clotting discovered

Saturday, 06 June 2009 10:24 -

Scientists have discovered a molecular mechanism that is key to regulating the way blood clots.

The team from Harvard University, writing in the journal Science, said the finding could help treat people who have blood-clotting disorders.

More...