

I'm Still Tortured by What I Saw in Iraq

Sunday, 30 November 2008 21:23 - Last Updated Sunday, 30 November 2008 21:28

I'm not some ivory-tower type; I served for 14 years in the U.S. Air Force, began my career as a Special Operations pilot flying helicopters, saw combat in Bosnia and Kosovo, became an Air Force counterintelligence agent, then volunteered to go to Iraq to work as a senior interrogator. What I saw in Iraq still rattles me -- both because it betrays our traditions and because it just doesn't work.

More...