

U.S. Soldier Killed Herself -- After Refusing to Take Part in Torture

Friday, 24 April 2009 16:03 -

I am reminded of the chilling story of Alyssa Peterson, who I have written about numerous times in the past three years but now with especially sad relevance. Appalled when ordered to take part in interrogations that, no doubt, involved what we would call torture, she refused, then killed herself a few days later, in September 2003.
