

Thousands of US weapons astray in Afghanistan: auditors

Thursday, 12 February 2009 20:18 - housands of US weapons, including assault rifles and grenade launchers, may be in Taliban or Al-Qaeda hands in Afghanistan because of lax controls, congressional auditors warned on Thursday.

The Pentagon has failed to track an estimated 87,000 weapons given to Afghan security forces, one-third of the 242,000 shipped by the US government between December 2004 and June 2008, the Government Accountability Office said.

TVNL Comment: How do you keep with profitable business of war going? You create and back the enemy.
